Conservative, Personalized Care for the Generations

Whether it's extracting a wisdom tooth, placing a dental implant, or rebuilding jaws, cheekbones, and eye sockets shattered by trauma, patients have turned to the same practice for nearly sixty years.

"We have one guiding principle," says Carl J. Milano, DMD. "Our patients are our top priority."

The practice was founded in the early 1950s by an excellent oral surgeon, Dr. Paul Biedlingmaier. After completing his residency in 1978, Dr. Milano joined the practice and then became a sole practitioner following Dr. Biedlingmaier's retirement in 1983.

Today, referring dentists entrust their patients' and their own families' care to Dr. Milano when they need a specialist in oral and maxillofacial surgery.

For All Ages

Dr. Milano cares for patients of all ages, embracing the wonder of children fascinated by his high-tech approaches and keeping mindful of the concerns of senior adults on limited incomes.

"We have a very compassionate and conscientious office," describes Dr. Milano. "Patients are treated warmly and competently by our highly qualified staff, from their initial phone call to the last post-operative appointment. And our patients know that there will be no surprises during their care, whether in scope, recovery times, or costs."

Dr. Milano is exceptionally skilled with dental implants and guides patients through the traditional approach or offers more immediate implant options that are available with today's technology.

"In our practice, we treat a lot of benign tumors as well as oral and facial cancers," he adds. "And I am on call to treat dental and facial trauma at Easton

Introducing Dr. Mazza

Dr. Milano welcomes a new associate to his office this summer: Fredric "Rick" Mazza, DMD.

"Dr. Mazza is an exceptionally talented young oral and maxillofacial surgeon," notes Dr. Milano.

"He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Seton Hall University, and earned his degree in dentistry at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, followed by a residency in oral and maxillofacial surgery at Newark Medical Center. I know my new associate will greet his patients with the same compassionate and comprehensive approach that is the hallmark of this practice."

Hospital and Warren Hospital in Phillipsburg.

"Our community is growing rapidly, and the practice is growing with it. I think it's important for patients to know that there is a practice here that's stood the test of time, keeps up with the most advanced procedures, and can handle even their most difficult dental challenges."

“ I joined my father's dental practice in 1983. He always felt comfortable in Dr. Milano's chair, and so do I. Dr. Milano extracted one of my wisdom teeth and I didn't feel a thing! My daughter is consulting him now, and so many of my own patients tell me how pleased they are with his care. You can't have a better oral surgeon than Carl Milano.”
